Academic Service Learning Awards

Ferris State University
Academic Service Learning

Nominations Needed

Ferris State University's Academic Service Learning program is seeking nominations for the following 2018 awards:

Community Partner Excellence Award
Student Excellence Award
Faculty Excellence Award

A short description of each award follows.

Academic Service Learning Community Partner Excellence Award

This award honors a community partner for its commitment to building partnerships that meet the challenges and needs of the community while utilizing student involvement in service to also meet instructional objectives. Selection of the award recipient is based on the following criteria:

- Commitment to the academic and personal development of FSU students;
- Collaboration with FSU students and faculty members; and
- Length of time and/or depth of involvement with FSU service-learning faculty and students.

Academic Service Learning Faculty Excellence Award

This award honors an FSU faculty member for her or his commitment to academic service learning. This commitment includes a collaboration with one or more community partners that results in FSU students having the opportunity to engage meaningfully with the community partner(s) by completing an academic service-learning project. The project links serving community-identified needs with learning that is relevant to the course. Selection of the award recipient is based on the following criteria:

- Meaningful integration of the service learning experience with course content;
- Evidence of impact of and reflection on the academic service-learning project; and
- Consideration of and commitment to the needs of the community partner(s).

Academic Service Learning Student Excellence Award

This award honors an FSU student or team of students for its commitment to academic service learning and success in exceeding course expectations in order to complete the service-learning project. Selection of the award recipient(s) is based on the following criteria:

- Demonstrated high level of responsibility and professionalism in working with the community partner(s);
- Significant contribution to the success of the service-learning project;
- Evidence of personal growth as a result of the service-learning project; and
- Demonstrated understanding of relevant course material and learning outcomes.

The nomination process is simple and efficient. The deadline is March 23, 2018 and forms can be emailed to sarahhinkley@ferris.edu. Awardees will be honored with an award presentation at the reception on Monday, April 16, 2018. Please take a moment to nominate a deserving colleague, student or community partner using form downloadable from the website here: https://ferris.edu/HTMLS/academics/center/ASL/

Telescope Viewing at the Rawlinson Observatory -- Ferris Community Invited

The Ferris community is welcome to the Rawlinson Observatory on Thursday, March 22, from 8:30 pm to 10 pm. We will be looking at the crescent moon and the Orion Nebula. This event is weather permitting — If you can see the moon in the sky at all on Thursday night, then the observatory will be open. The Rawlinson Observatory is on the North end of the Science building on the fourth floor. Please enter through the doors on the North end of the building, and follow the signs to the observatory.
