

Ferris State University senior guard Lucy DeMartin (Mason) was recognized as a first-team 2003-04 Verizon College Division Women's Basketball Academic All-America selection in addition to being honored as a first-team Verizon Academic All-District IV honoree for the second consecutive campaign.

A two-time (2002-04) All-Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) North Division First-Team pick, DeMartin was one of five first-team national honorees in voting conducted by the College Sports Information Directors Association of America (CoSIDA). The college division includes all National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division II and III schools, all National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) member institutions and Canadian colleges and universities. DeMartin joins former Bulldog player Debbie Killips (1998-02), who received the same honor in 2001-02, as the second FSU player in three years to attain first-team Academic All-America kudos.

The 2003-04 season marked the 52nd anniversary of the Verizon Academic All-America program, which was founded by CoSIDA in 1952 to recognize collegiate student-athletes for their outstanding achievements in the classroom and on the playing field. Over the years, the Verizon Academic All-America program has grown into one of the most recognized and prestigious collegiate scholar-athlete awards nationwide, honoring student-athletes from all NCAA championship sports.

The Verizon Academic All-America Teams are selected by a vote of the 1,800-member CoSIDA. To be eligible, an athlete must be a varsity starter or key reserve and maintain a cumulative GPA of at least 3.20 on a scale of 4.00. Sports information directors nominate eligible athletes from their schools who are named to district teams prior to being voted upon the national level.
