Business and Special Expense Policy 2015:10

Section 1 – Policy Statement

As a public institution, the University must ensure that all funds (general and non-general fund) are only used to support appropriate University business.

The following standards should help guide all expenditure decisions:

- Exercise prudent judgment to ensure the use of University funds is appropriate and essential.
- Business meeting expenditures must support the University's academic, institutional or public service mission.
- The expenditure is not personal in nature.
- The expenditure is not additional compensation (e.g., bonuses, cash, gifts, prizes, awards, etc.) as determined by Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rules and regulations.

Additional information sources relative to allowable expenses:

- Purchasing Policy
- Transportation & Travel Policy

Section 2 – Scope

This policy applies to all Ferris State University:

- Employees
- Funds (general, non-general, and auxiliary; see separate note on Agency Funds below).

Expenditures funded by a grant or contract will be governed by the more restrictive of either the grant, contract, or University policy.

Agency Funds are where the University is only the custodian of non-University funds and as such are not required to follow the same policies noted herein.

Section 3 – Documentation Requirements

Supporting documentation is required for all expenditures, and includes the following:

1. Original detailed receipt – detailed receipt includes merchant name, date of purchase, description of items purchased, quantity, unit & total price, and method of payment. For online orders, this will include verification of order placement and items purchased. Receipts are required for purchases greater than $50, except for airfare, lodging, rental car, and business meals which always require a receipt. When a receipt is required, an e-receipt from Concur is considered sufficient.

2. Validation of business purpose – if not easily discerned from the items purchased, the business purpose of the expenditure should be documented. This could include: agenda, minutes, invitation, or other documentation that verifies the business intent of the expense. Documentation of expenditures for events, meetings, business meals, entertainment, etc. is to include a list of attendees and their specific business relationship as well as an agenda for the meeting or description of the business purpose.

Section 4 – Taxable Benefits

Per IRS Publication 15B & Publication 463 certain expenses, where there is a benefit to the employee, may be considered as additional compensation (taxable benefit) to the employee and reported as such on the employee's W-2. This would include gifts in excess of $75, event/function tickets, gift cards, connectivity expenses, certain relocation expenses, and any spousal expense when authorized as an allowable expense by the appropriate University Vice President. Expenditures made under this category must be reported to the Disbursement Supervisor for reporting on employee's W-2 as additional compensation. In addition, gifts to non-employees may be considered taxable income to the individual and require issuance of a 1099. Questions relative to taxability may be directed to the Director of Accounting at extension 3908. Expenditures considered Taxable Benefits to the employee or Taxable Income to the non-employee are indicated as such in Section 6 – Types of Expenditures, and in Appendix A.

Section 5 – Exceptions

Exceptions to any section of this policy must be requested through the Vice President for Administration & Finance unless specifically defined elsewhere within this policy.

Appendix A

Reporting of Gifts, Prizes, and Awards

CATEGORY OF GIFT, PRIZE OR AWARD (Note 1)	AMOUNT	NOT TAXABLE	TAXABLE (Note2)
Cash or Unrestricted or negotiable gift certificates (CAN BE EASILY converted to cash)	All amounts		<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
Restricted or non-negotiable gift certificates (CAN NOT BE EASILY converted to cash)	$75.00 or less	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
Restricted or non-negotiable gift certificates (CAN BE EASILY converted to cash)	more than $75.00		<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

A restricted or non-negotiable gift certificate is distinguishable from a cash equivalent gift card/certificate (unrestricted or negotiable gift) when it can only be redeemed with the issuer and cannot be cashed out, sold to another person, or used to reduce an outstanding account balance with the issuer of the certificate. Examples would be a certificate for admission to an event or one for a specific product such as a hat or t-shirt.

1. Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Rules and Regulations: For employees, the value of a gift of cash, a gift certificate, or a cash equivalent, such as an item which is easily converted to cash, must be included in the recipient's gross income, since it is essentially extra salary or wages, regardless of the amount involved. Cash, no matter how little, is always included in the recipient's gross income.
2. Information must be reported using a designated web based form in MyFSU, or completion of a Form W-9 "Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification" within 10 workdays after the presentation by the University department representative if a gift, prize, or award is presented to a non-employee where the cumulative retail value is $600 or more:
3. In accordance with IRS rules and regulations, the University must report on:
 - a. Form W-2, any employee by including the fair market value of the gift, prize, or award in the employee's taxable income if value is over $75.00; or.
 - b. Form 1099 or 1099 MISC, any non-employee if the cumulative total value of the gift, prize, or award is $600 or more paid in any taxable year; or
 - c. Form W-2G, any raffle winnings if the value of such winnings is greater than $5000, or 300 times the cost of the ticket regardless of the employment status (employee and non-employee).

The University College or department is required to provide written notice to the recipient that the value of the gift, prize, or award may be subject to Federal, State, and Local taxes.
