FERRIS FIDELITY

As constant as the Northern Star
Our faith we pledge to thee.
Our word, our bond, our oath, our trust
To you fidelity.
From the promise of the crimson dawn
To sunset’s mellow gold
Thy spirit shall prevail.
We pledge allegiance as of old
Ferris State, All Hail!

Words and Music by Graham T. Overgard
WELL DONE!

Earning a college degree is one of life’s landmark accomplishments, and the Ferris State University community could not be more proud of each and every one of its graduates.

It has been our privilege to accompany you throughout this educational journey, and the entire Ferris community is extraordinarily pleased to honor your achievement. This is just the beginning.

Ferris State University graduates boast the drive to discover, inspire and serve with a sense of purpose. You now belong to an exceptional group of Bulldog alumni—leaders in all facets of business, education, industry, health care and public service who dared to imagine more.

We are confident that, together, we have helped create a commitment to responsible citizenship and lifelong learning.

And we are thankful, because, through you, the world is about to get better.

ROOTED IN OPPORTUNITY

Recognized as a statewide leader in higher education, Ferris State University is playing a key role in the development of Michigan’s workforce, economy and communities. Our academic and professional community serves more than 11,000 students on our main campus in Big Rapids, 24 off-campus sites throughout Michigan, and at Kendall College of Art and Design in Grand Rapids.

Ferris offers more than 190 undergraduate and graduate degrees in professional and technical high-demand fields. With state-of-the-art facilities and resources, a collaborative work environment and industry advisory boards that keep us on the cutting edge of practical instruction, we help students enter the job market with an advantage.

Ferris is a welcoming community of people and perspectives from all over the United States and around the world. We are distinguished by our strong heritage of providing opportunity to all.

Ferris State is the only state university in Michigan that bears the name of its founders, Woodbridge and Helen Ferris. They opened Ferris Industrial School in 1884 to provide worker retraining following declines in the lumber and mining industries. Though inspired by the economic conditions of the day, their philosophy of combining instruction in marketable skills with a liberal arts education remains relevant today.

They lived their lives in service to others—Woodbridge as an educator, two-term governor of the state of Michigan and a United States senator, and Helen as a revered teacher who—in the words of President David Eisler during his 2003 inaugural address—“symbolizes one of the greatest strengths of our university, the caring commitment of our people.”

Woodbridge and Helen believed that all students should have the opportunity to pursue a higher education if they were willing to work for it. Their goals to prepare students for successful careers, responsible citizenship and lifelong learning are part of our university’s mission today.

By its adherence to these principles, Ferris State University is recognized as a pioneer in career-oriented education and a leader in new occupational programming.

The efficacy of this distinctive educational approach is reflected in the growth of the institution over the past several decades. When Ferris became a state college in the fall of 1950, it consisted of one permanent structure, the Alumni Building, and some surplus Army barracks. Fewer than 1,000 students were enrolled, and there were less than 50 faculty members. The campus covered less than 20 acres.

Today, enrollment is more than 11,000 students and the 935-acre campus comprises 116 educational, administrative and maintenance buildings, student activity facilities and residence halls.

The educational opportunities available at Ferris are fueled by selection of credentialed and committed faculty, the special care taken in the development of curricula, a commitment to providing state-of-the-art equipment for instruction in technical areas and the use of advisory committees to keep programs in touch with the current needs of industry. The university’s concept of “laddering” enables students to build from a two-year to a four-year program according to their careers and personal goals.

Students’ social life is an extension of the classroom at Ferris, where it’s easy to get involved and be engaged by a lively schedule of athletic, cultural and recreational events. It’s where lifelong friends are made.

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY

Ferris students benefit from the innovative instruction, career advice and professional connections of faculty selected for their practical experience as well as academic ability.

Our 2021 Distinguished Teacher Award recipient is featured below. The award is symbolic of the appreciation of Ferris State University faculty for their dedication to students and excellence in teaching.

Recipients are selected based on a lengthy process of extensive evaluation that includes classroom visits, student input, evaluation of semifinalist essays and curriculum vitae, and interviews with finalists. That thorough process is part of what makes the award special to faculty.

PATRICK BISHOP
Distinguished Teacher

For nearly 15 years, Public Relations Professor and program champion Patrick Bishop has “had the feeling” with his instruction and advisement of Ferris State University students seeking to become business communication and reputation management professionals. He considered his energetic approach to promote learning in the College of Business after his selection as Ferris’ 2021 Distinguished Teacher Award recipient.

“I believe it is a key component of my personality,” Bishop said. “Early on, I was a supplemental teacher at Jackson Community College (now Jackson College). After 16 years in the industry, I knew teaching was where I needed to be because I love that feeling of illumination. It is like lightning striking my brain as I experience and witness that ‘A-ha’ moment. It can be a beautiful thing to get young adults to open up and make that leap we call a ‘paradigm shift.’ That, I believe, is the key to making real gains as experiential learners. You take the specifics of the subject matter, but go well beyond book learning to really immerse yourself in the material, so the students then seek to breakthrough, not just push their way past their assignments.”

Bishop’s outgoing nature is also an asset in his long-term service as adviser to the university’s Public Relations Student Society of America chapter, a campus registered student organization.
“It is another aspect of being an active contributor to the university. Students who are heading into this field can benefit from learning about what it takes to succeed in the industry. So we regularly welcome professionals, both alumni and regional business leaders, as guest speakers,” Bishop said. “PRSSA is one of the best ways to ‘prime the pump,’ illustrating the value for these students’ investment in each relationship that presents itself, so they can shape, develop and advance their career by becoming genuine and skilled professionals. It is a quality of life consideration that we seek to promote with chapter members throughout and following their Ferris experience.”

His reputation as an emphatic and engaged instructor and adviser is the stuff of conversation among College of Business students. Bishop said it is a point of pride that alumni of the program have become his friends and contributors to his campus efforts.

“I know that this is my calling, something very much in my blood and bones because I love it,” Bishop said. “Students, even professionals, will rise to the expectations you place for them. I have worked to gain and build trust; their response is often to do what is necessary to make those things happen. When students think enough of our relationship to keep seeking my advice or invite me as a guest for their wedding, I see that as the greatest possible compliment they can offer.”

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The pageantry of commencement is a time-honored ritual dating back to ecclesiastical observances of the 12th and 13th centuries. Today’s academic regalia owes its origins to clerical garb designed to impart dignity to solemn, scholarly occasions.

The basis for the standardization of the various features of the American regalia was formed at a special intercollegiate conference held in 1895 at Columbia University. Three types of gowns are indicated by the code:

- Bachelor’s gowns have long, bell-shaped sleeves.
- Master’s gowns have oblong sleeves which drape gracefully below the knees and are open at the wrist.
- Doctoral gowns are faced with black velvet, with three bars of velvet across the bell-shaped sleeves.

Hoods worn by master’s and doctoral graduates are made of material identical to the gowns and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department to which the degree pertains. The color of the tassel denotes the wearer’s field of academic specialization, except for the doctoral degree earner, who wears either gold or black.

CERTIFICATION OF GRADUATION

Commencement is not a certification of graduation but rather a ceremony that celebrates academic achievements. Participation in any commencement ceremony does not affirm that the graduate has satisfactorily completed all degree requirements. Degrees presented at Ferris State University commencement ceremonies are subject to satisfactory completion of specific requirements of individual degree programs of the colleges and university.

Graduates must submit their online graduation applications by the established deadline or their names do not appear in the commencement program. In order to have the program completed in time for commencement, we must adhere to these deadlines. Graduates who miss the deadline may ask their respective colleges’ commencement coordinators to place their names in the next commencement program.

COMMENCEMENT SYMBOLS

The Ferris State University Seal
The Ferris State University seal represents founder Woodbridge N. Ferris’ educational philosophy, which has guided the university since 1884.

The torch symbolizes enlightenment—the light of truth and knowledge, the fire of inspiration challenging each student to excel.

Opportunity and industry are the underlying principles of this philosophy and provide the graduate with guidelines to follow throughout life. Opportunity is the chance for each individual to realize his or her greatest potential. Industry is the combination of the vital qualities of diligence, perseverance and discipline.

The Mace Bearer
The office of Mace Bearer is ceremonial and is derived from medieval England, when an official taking office or opening court needed a bodyguard. In those times, the mace, a formidable weapon, was held ready to protect the person in charge. Since that time, however, it has become a symbol of office and is carried in the procession to dignify the ceremony.

A university representative known as the Mace Bearer carries the mace and leads in the presidential party. The mace is displayed on stage during the ceremony.

The university mace was created by staff of the Manufacturing Engineering Technology program for use during formal university functions.

Banners
Banners representing each of the degree-granting colleges are displayed on the stage.

Submit your good news

Ferris Magazine is published twice a year by University Advancement and Marketing for alumni and friends, employees and other key constituents. One of the magazine’s most popular features is The Buzz, a collection of class notes about new jobs, promotions and retirements, marriages and additions to the Ferris family.
