Online Gen Ed Science Course for Summer 2019

If you know of anybody needing a 3-credit, non-lab Natural Science course you may be interested in this new online offering.

PHSC 190 Secrets of the Earth System (3 credits, no lab, fully on-line) CRN: 50989

This course will introduce students to the important earth science concepts that provide a foundation for viewing the Earth as a system consisting of the geosphere, hydrosphere, atmosphere, and biosphere. The environment in which we all live results from the continuous exchange of matter and energy within and between these earth system spheres. An important theme throughout the course will be the impact of human interactions with these spheres. This course meets the Natural Science general education requirements.

The course will run during Summer Session A from Tuesday, May 21 – Tuesday, July 2.

Teach Like a Dog: Beauty is in The Eye of The Beholder

5:51am Manton Consolidated Schools will be closed due to the impending storm...

My first thought (like many humans), an hour extra sleep! I'll work from home rather than risk the 55 mile drive to work.

6:45am Gypsy, my dog, expressed different thoughts. "Mom, mom, time to get up for our walk! We are going, right? It's snowing and windy out and so exciting, I can't wait to go!!!"

6:50am Gypsy upped the ante, bringing me my walking pants.

Clearly our idea of what makes a morning walk great are very different. She is an awesome dog though, always my best cheerleader greeting me when I'm home. I know she'd go the extra mile for me, so I obligingly get my gear on and we head out into the blowing white. Although to me it all pretty much looks the same--varying shades of white and grey--she clearly is having a ball. Darting from spot to spot, sometimes sniffing and moving on, sometimes digging under the snow pack. She is a lot faster than I am, but she keeps checking back to make sure I'm keeping up and staying with her. She's in her element, and I'm just plodding along behind for the ride.

When we teach, our students may not be as excited as us about our content. They also might look out and see the readings, projects, ideas and more as just a bunch of stuff to get done, having no idea of what excitement is found beneath the surface. They often fall behind at times, getting bogged down in areas they aren't skilled or prepared to navigate through yet.

Have we built a positive relationship with our students so they want to follow us even when the learning is challenging? Have we shared our passion for our subject, and aroused their curiosity as to what we find fascinating about our subject? Have we made sure we are always in sight of our students, able to go faster or slower depending on what they need? Do we provide frequent feedback to guide their learning?

I wouldn't have gone out this morning if it wasn't for her enthusiasm and encouragement, and I would have missed all the beauty of a Michigan winter day from her perspective.

Every class we teach is an opportunity to share our subject's beauty and complexity with our students.

FCTL: Facilitating Reflection on and Improvement of Assessment Practice

Facilitating Reflection on and Improvement of Assessment Practice

This will be a series of workshops and supportive follow-up sessions. The first workshop will be on Friday, February 22, 2019, from 2 – 4 PM in FLITE 405.

Description

In this session, we will explore ways in which you might coach and support colleagues to examine, implement, and improve course and program assessment. We will consider a process that involves curiosity, intentional listening, and shared problem-solving that builds a partnership approach to improving assessment. We will also meet for a follow-up session to enable you to discuss your efforts in implementing this process and to seek and share feedback with other participants. Additionally, you will be invited to engage in ongoing meetings to share about your efforts and receive further support in working with colleagues.

We hope you will join us. Please register by e-mailing fctl@ferris.edu or calling 231.591.3826.

If you have a disability and require accommodation to participate in these events, please contact FCTL at (231) 591-3826 or fctl@ferris.edu to request accommodations at least 72 hours in advance.

Observatory Event -- 8:20 pm Monday, Feb 25, 2019

The Ferris community is welcome to the Rawlinson Observatory on Monday, February 25, 2019, from 8:20 pm to 10 pm. We will be looking at the nebula and stars in Orion and Mars. This event will follow as a companion to a presentation given by Pasquale Di Raddo on the 'Art of the Moon Landing Stamps' from 7 to 8 pm in Science 120. Even if the sky is cloudy, the observatory event will still go on as an 'open house' and demonstration of our telescope. The Rawlinson Observatory is on the North end of the Science building on the fourth floor. Please enter through the doors on the North end of the building, and follow the signs to the observatory.

Literature in Person: A Potpourri of Creative Writing (2/21)

Thursday, February 21st
7:00pm

Ferris State Fine Art Gallery (UCB 205)

Stay warm on this winter evening! Join us for a sampling of original poetry, fiction, and nonfiction by Ferris faculty and staff authors in the cozy setting of the Ferris Art Gallery. Deirdre Fagan, Garrett Stack, Jon Taylor, Maggie Walcott, Carrie Weiss, and Zac Wendler will be reading a small sampling of their work, and a short question and answer session will follow.

This event is brought to you by the Department of English, Literature, and World Languages and is co-sponsored by the Big Rapids Festival of the Arts and the Ferris Fine Art Gallery.

Ferris State University is an equal opportunity institution. If you have a disability and require accommodation to participate in this event, please contact DeirdreFagan@ferris.edu to request accommodations at least 72 hours in advance.

Guest Author: Elisa Camara

Visiting Author: Elisa Camara

Wednesday, March 6th

6:00-7:30

IRC 120

Sponsored by Ferris State University's Department of English, Literature, and World Languages

On October 23rd, 1983, Elisa Camara's brother, Sgt. Mecot Camara, was killed in Beirut, Lebanon when a suicide bomber attacked United States Marine barracks and killed 241 Americans. He was serving as an International Peacekeeper at the time. In memory of her brother and as a tribute to all of the men and women serving in our Armed Forces, Elisa began writing. She is now the author of the memoir, American Brother, and the children's picture book series, Patriot Pup, which celebrate his life and his service. Join us as she discusses how writing these texts became a cathartic way to work through her grief and how they stand as a celebration of her brother's courage, respect, and selflessness. Elisa M. Camara was born and raised in West Virginia. She has a degree in Business Administration from Queens University in Charlotte, North Carolina. She currently lives in Orlando, Florida, and is the mother of three sons.

Ferris State University is an equal opportunity institution. If you have a disability and require accommodation to participate in this event, please contact MelissaSmith@ferris.edu to request accommodations at least 72 hours in advance.
